

In the Social Realm

The all absorbing topic of conversation during the past week has been the identity of the young lady who will represent Utah in the coming celebration. Certain it is that she will make her first appearance Tuesday evening at the tabernacle concert, and there her identity will be disclosed. At 8:30 that evening, to the music of the "Star Spangled Banner," she will appear, surrounded by the counties and her maids of honor, and attended by her two little pages, and will take her seat on the platform, which is being built expressly for her in front of the choir. Out of the 27 maids, two have been chosen as her special attendants, and will occupy seats on either side of her. The two who have received this special honor are Miss Geneva Ellerbe and Miss Emma Lunt.

Society followers are manifesting much interest in the gown she will wear, and it is quite sure to be correct, she will rival the Queen of Sheba in all her glory. This gown is not of Paris make, nor of London, or New York cut, but is the production of a Salt Lake modiste, Walker Brothers, who claimed the honor of making Utah's gown.

In describing the gown no less a term than the much abused, but still significant word, splendid, can be used. The material is a rich cream satin of the sort that will "stand alone." The skirt is made with a court train lined throughout with white tulle, and the front of both skirt and bodice is magnificently ornate. The garniture is of silver and white in a design emblematic of our silver state.

The gown is one of the most beautiful ever worn in our city, and Utah is a young lady of aristocratic pose, one in all respects well suited for the trying position, for, after all, Utah will be the head and front of the Jubilee, and on her success or failure depends the outcome of the great affair.

The Misses Sherman, entertained on Thursday afternoon, in honor of Miss Gertrude Durant and Miss Helen Shearman. A novel form of entertainment was introduced in the guests of the well known advertisements, and the prize was won by Mrs. George F. Downey, who named the 45 advertisements all correctly. During the afternoon Miss Helen Shearman sang very charmingly, and Miss Durant gave some piano selections. Later in the afternoon a few gentlemen dropped in, and were served refreshments with the following guests: Mrs. Downey, Mrs. Holden, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Igleheart, Mrs. Bidwell, Mrs. Dargatz, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Hughes, the Misses Hansen, Harkness, Nason, Murray, Young, Woodward, Crawford, Wallace, Katz and Rookledge.

Mrs. Frank Jennings and Miss Lucile Jennings entertained at the Devereaux house on Tuesday evening at a large and most enjoyable dance. At about 100 guests were present.

The grounds were elaborately decorated with Chinese lanterns and presented a most dazzling appearance. The house was prettily decorated in Jubilee colors and sweet peas, but the best feature, especially attractive with the lanterns draped in immense American flags and the ceiling and walls hung with red, yellow and green streamers.

An interesting musical programme has been arranged, among the names appearing on it being Mrs. Viola Pratt, Miss Ruth Eldridge, Willard Webb and Orson Pratt.

On Friday morning the family will meet at Liberty park at 9 o'clock, and spend the day. A number of friends have been invited for this occasion, who will doubtless add much enjoyment to the memorable occasion.

Mr. R. T. Pettengill and family will leave in a few days for Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Pettengill will return to this city for the winter, while Miss Pettengill will remain in Chicago.

Miss Owens of Denver is visiting Miss Trent.

On Thursday evening last Miss Minnie Eldredge entertained informally.

The marriage of Miss Annie Lenhart of Trinidad, Colo., and Mr. Gunter of this city will occur Tuesday. The wedding will be a quiet one. Mr. and Mrs. Gunter will arrive in this city Wednesday and will be given a reception by the members of the bar.

Mrs. Trent entertained at luncheon on Wednesday.

Last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. William Reid entertained at an informal luncheon.

Thatcher Reception at Logan. Logan, July 17.—A quiet reception was held at the residence of Hon. and Mrs. G. W. Thatcher Thursday evening, to commemorate the marriage of Mr. A. J. Farrel and Miss Lina Thatcher. The spacious home was made brilliant for the occasion by electric lights and flowers, and refreshments, music and other diversions were provided for the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher will leave to fill missions in Holland at the middle of August. Among those in town to attend this reception were Hon. and Mrs. R. W. Sloan, Bishop and Mrs. Farrel, of Smithfield, and Mr. and Mrs. David Robbins.

A party for the benefit of Elder G. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jensen, of the Sixth ward, was held on the lawn of the ward hall Thursday evening. An interesting programme was presented, in which President Fekedstad, Bishop Skunk, Judge Stewart and others took part, and a feeling farewell address was made by the young beneficiary.

A Plutonian Idyl. New York Press: The Arch Fleet whooped loudly as he observed the Imone of the prettiest affairs of the week, and was in honor of Miss Bement. The decorations throughout the rooms were of carnations, nasturtiums and sweet peas, and the dining-room was presided over by the Misses McCormick, Thorne, Burke, Hogg, Williams, Welby and Lena Welby. Miss Forbes, Miss Irma Alf and Miss Terhune served punch in the hall. The hours of the tea were from 2 to 4 o'clock, and the house was crowded during the time with both young ladies and gentlemen.

Miss Katherine Lawrence was the hostess at a Kensington tea on Wednesday afternoon, given in honor of Miss Durant and Miss Helen Shearman. The house was very prettily decorated in pink and white, sweet peas, carnations and coreopsis, and the following guests were present: Mrs. Hemphill, Mrs. Downey, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Holden, Mrs. Westland, the Misses Cone, Lowe, Young, Welton, Sherman, Harkness, Shearman, Katz, Rookledge, Mrs. Bidwell, Dr. Miles, Mrs. Hoffman, the Misses Nason, Crawford, McCormick.

Mr. Simeon Hamilton gave one of the jolliest parties of the week, Murray on Tuesday evening. The affair was a bicycle tea, and the guests rode down about 7 o'clock, and on reaching there, were served an elaborate Dutch supper at Mr. Hamilton's home. The guests came to the city on a special car at 11 o'clock, and among them were Mrs. Downey, Mrs. Reid, the Misses Hansen, Shearman, Lawrence, Durant, Young, Nason and Messrs. Lyon, Harkness, Shearman, Sprague and Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. William Reid entertained at dinner on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Trent gave a luncheon on Thursday, and Miss Inez Trent entertained informally on Friday evening.

Mrs. Edward S. Blair of Helena, Mont., is the guest of her parents, Captain and Mrs. J. W. Greenman, of 119 N. Street.

Miss Lena Bachman of Provo is visiting with Miss Amy Pike.

Miss Thatcher has issued invitations for a large dancing party next Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Wallace, at the Porches.

Miss Surfried of San Francisco is in the city, as the guest of Mrs. S. W. Sears and Mrs. Buckholz.

Mr. and Mrs. Le Grand Young and Miss Jasmine are expected home for the Jubilee.

One of the most delightful affairs that has been planned for the Jubilee is a reunion of the Pratt family, which will take place at the Fourteenth ward assembly rooms on Wednesday at 8:30.

An interesting musical programme has been arranged, among the names appearing on it being Mrs. Viola Pratt, Miss Ruth Eldridge, Willard Webb and Orson Pratt.

A Plutonian Idyl. New York Press: The Arch Fleet whooped loudly as he observed the Im-president Painter standing at his gaudy portals. "Come right in," he said, "so you are the man who originated those lovely posters. We shall do our best to make you at home. Ah—He summoned an aid.

"Just mix him with marine green and Prussian blue for a warm tint!" With a hoarse chuckle he watched his shrieking victim being taken to a red-hot oven with a sizzling sizzle and a German who next tears of blood.
